Dear Frankenstein

I made a monster to help me with my science experiments. It has a bull's head with three horns and the body of a cheetah with multi-coloured spots. It has donkey legs and dog arms. I gave it a lab coat. I called him Bobby and he was so cute and small but then something terrifying happened! My monster grew bigger and bigger and bigger until he filled the entire room! He burst out of the roof, ripped open the walls and some of my experiments smashed on the floor! Now he has escaped and he's heading to town!

I need you to come as quickly as you can to stop Bobby from destroying the whole entire town. I have sight of him but I need you to help me catch him with my net gadget and bring him home.
